Mr. Richard C. Stiener Chief, INTERPOL-USNCB National Central Bureau - INTERPOL Department of Justice Washington, D. C. 20530

Dear Dick:

Many thanks for your thoughtful letter of March 8th, which arrived during my absence from the country. I am glad you thought my article in Corporate Security Digest was helpful. I believe the role of INTERPOL can become increasingly significant in confronting the lawless aspect of terrorism which in the past has been lumped into the exploded political issues. Your contribution and certainly Ray Kendall's attitude about this augurs well for the future. If ever I can be of any help, please don't hesitate to call on me.

With warm best wishes,

Sincerely,

William H. Webster

The Honorable William H. Webster Central Intelligence Agency Washington, D. C. 20505

Dear Judge Webster:

I read with interest your article in the January 18th issue of "Corporate Security Digest" and heartily agree with your assessment about the key ingredients in developing an effective program against terrorism.

I particularly appreciated your recognition of the progressive change in the INTERPOL position toward terrorism. Of course, your support for change and involvement in the process of change at the General Assemblies was an important part of the Organization's success.

I also appreciate your placement of the impact of INTERPOL's changes in the historical perspective of the world's response to terrorism. When a person of your stature draws such a conclusion, its impact can not help but to facilitate an understanding of the INTERPOL program. I would like to take this opportunity to thank you for your continued support.

You were traveling when Ray Kendall last visited the U. S.. He sends his best. During his next visit I hope we can arrange a brief visit.

Highest regards.

Sincere

Richard C. Stiener Chief, INTERPOL-USNCB
